NEXT GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

Richmond Democrats Are Beginning to Talk About Candidates.

THE MEN TALKED ABOUT

(Sper'al to Virginian-Pilot.) Richmond, Va., Dec. 30 .- Although the this section are beginning to consider It is but natural to suppose that Mr.

Taylor Ellyson, being a native of this city and a life-long resident, should be the choice of the people here. They realize, however, that Mr. Ellyson has but a slim chance of securing that honored position, and it is believed that his name will not be presented to the Democratic State convention unless there should be a considerable change in conditions before that body assem-

I am sorry to say that I can see no hope for Mr. Ellyson, for, as my fellow-citizen, I should be glad to see him Governor of Vi ginia." PAYMENT OF INTEREST.

PAYMENT OF INTEREST.

The semi-annual payment of interest on the pub ic debt of Virginia has been arranged in the office of the Second Auditor, and checks for holders of the bonds will be forwarded, so that they may be returned to the banks for payment on January 2d.

The total aggregates $350,000, and it is est mated that upwards of $250,000 of the amount will go to holders of bonds who reside in Virginia. More of the bonds are he'd in Richmond than in any other point in the State, and a very large part of the interest money will arge part of the interest money will be distributed in this city.

CENTURY BONDS.

There are $18,000,000 century bonds outs:andir g, $7,000,000 of which are registered and $11,000,000 of the coupon variety. The holders of registered bonds can be located with some degree of accuracy. It is estimated that $5,500,000 of the registered bonds are held in Virginia, and that considerably more than half that amount are represented by the heads of Richmends. in the hands of Richmond corporations was taken suddenly iii, his family and friends had thought he would live several years.

Major Warwick was sixty-five years old, and one of the oldest and best-known citizens of his county. His home for several years was in Richmond, where he was in business, and was a man of considerable wealth. He distinguished himself in the Civil war for his bravery, and has always been thrown as a most polished virginia gentleman. His family is among the oldest and truest of the State. Major warnick leaves a widow and three children—Misses Mary and Lena Warwick, and Mr. P. C. Warwick, Jr., all of whom were with him at the time of his death. The funeral arrangements are not known, but will be published later.

Although the cotton crop is expected to be much lighter than last season, it is gratifying to note that the receipts in Petersburg market are a few bales ahead of same time last year, being 4,450 bales, against 4,120 bales in 1898. Home consumption of cotton is also ahead of last season, and it is estimated that between 9,000 and 10,000 bales will be required to supply the mills in Petersburg and vicinity next season. About 1,000 operatives are employed in the cotton mills in this locality, and the aggregate amount paid annually in wages is about $120,000.

INVESTMENTS.

The Southside Railway and Development Company has invested here about a half million dollars in steel electric railway and electric light system, placing on the property bonds bearing interest at the rate of five per cent, per annum. The company expects, in the near future, to increase its water-power plant, when it can offer better inducements to manufacturers to locate here.

The coupon bonds are not easy to locate. The Second Auditor entertains the opinion, however, that $10 000,000 of the entire outstanding issue of century bonds, coupon and registered, are heid in the State.

The interest on $10,000,000 at 2 per cent. per annum makes the total of interest disbursed semi-annually $100,000.

There are $6,300,000 of Riddleberger bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum. Nearly all of the $94,500 of interest for the half-year period will go to Virginians. Pew of this description of bonds are held outside of the State.

A DENIAL.

Yory county people deny the reported disturbances at Providence Church and St. Michaels. The denial, as it relates to Providence, is well-founded, for it has transpired that the report regarding that place was incorrect. The boats at the river's edge were, it seems, set adrift, but this seems to have been all. The river is some distance from the church. In the case of St. Michaels, there is a conflict of streements. One authority declares that there was trouble there; that boats were cut adrift, woods set affre, the rope bearing the Christmas presents, cut; and a woman dataen out of the boats is to be the counter of the boats in the Christmas presents, cut; and a wo-man driven out of the house by her husband. On the other hand, it is datly stated that there was absolutely rouble at St Michaels and no ground whatever for the report.
